

I'm writing to express my outrage with Sinclair Broadcasting. I read today that Sinclair has decided to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election. As the FCC, it is your responsibility to make sure that broadcasting companies use the "public airways" for the public good and to serve the public interest. What Sinclair is now attempting to now is use the public airways for blatant partisan electioneering.

If there ever was a post child example of the dangers of media consolidation, this has to be it! Sinclair's actions clearly demonstrate the need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. Again, Sinclair's behavior in this regard is contemptible and should bring a swift and costly rebuke from the FCC.

Thank you.
